

FASTENER
TRAINING INSTITUTE

Fastener Training Institute®
10842 Noel Street #107
Los Alamitos, CA 90720
www.FastenerTraining.org

CUSTOMIZED ON-SITE TRAINING AVAILABLE FROM FTI®

by John Wachman Director of the Fastener Training Institute®

Want To Offer Employee or Customer Training At Your Facility? Let The Fastener Training Institute® (FTI) Help.

We can develop a curriculum specifically tailored to your company's needs or present one of our established programs.

We have provided full-day on-site basic product training programs for fastener companies throughout the U.S., as well as specific fastener technology training for distributor customers at the distributor's location, plus on-site training for buyers at government installations.

Whatever your needs, chances are our team of knowledgeable and expert fastener trainers can produce the customized curriculum you require.

We are proud of the fact that 100% of Fastener Training Institute students have indicated they would recommend the class they attended to others in the fastener industry.

"Training is one of the absolute best investments we can make in our people and in our business. Our folks consistently return from training enthused and appreciative of the knowledge they've gained and the priority we've placed on equipping them to do their job and serve our customers."

Russ Doran, Timberline Fasteners

"Furthering your fastener education is the best investment you can make in yourself and for your customers. Suppliers and distributors face many challenges in a competitive market, so having formal training in your craft will only help you gain that extra edge."

Rosa E. Hearn CFS, Brighton-Best International

How Does It Work?

Contact Jeannine Christensen, FTI Director of Education, to discuss your company's needs. She'll match your needs to the best trainer for the job and will work with you on developing a specific curriculum.

She'll want to know if the class will be taught at your facility, or if you need our staff to make arrangements for meeting space in the location of your choice. You'll also need to provide the number of attendees you expect to participate in the training and how much time you require for the training. It's your choice. Half a day, one full day, several days: all are possibilities. Your preferred dates also help us set up the best options for you.

Then, Jeannine will develop a proposal that will include fixed costs and variable costs for additional attendees beyond your initial estimate.

Why Should You Do On-Site Training?

By bringing our trainers to your facility, you avoid the travel and lodging costs of sending your team members to our existing training classes, not to mention the time they spend traveling.

Also, you will receive exactly the training your employees or customers need. You are in charge of the curriculum.

What could be better?

The core purpose of the Fastener Training Institute® is to enhance fastener use, reliability and safety. FTI is a division of the Pacific-West Fastener Association. For more information, visit www.FastenerTraining.org or contact Jeannine Christensen at 714-484-4747, or email jchristensen@FastenerTraining.org.

Training

Knowledge

Capabilities